

THE MINISKIRT IS BACK

Miniskirts are coming back. Long skirts are popular for a long time, but this is changing now.

There is an exhibition² about Mary Quant in London. Mary Quant is called 'the mother of the miniskirt.' The trend of miniskirts comes from the 1960s.

Ellie Pithers works for a fashion magazine. She says: "Miniskirts are optimistic³, that's why women like them. They feel young in them."

Miniskirts are not only for young women, but also for older women.

Andrea Leadsom is 55 years old, and she is a British politician. She often wears a black miniskirt.

Some people don't like women in miniskirts. They even criticize⁴ them on the Internet. But everybody can wear what they want.

Vocabulary: ¹populární|²výstava|³optimistický|⁴kritizovat

Language notes: for a long time=dlouhou dobu|the mother of the miniskirt=duchovní matka minisukně|fashion magazine=módní časopis|not only=nejen|on the Internet=na internetu

Mary Quant=English Fashion Designer|Ellie Pithers=British journalist|Andrea Leadsom=British politician

Sources: guardian.com|en.wikipedia.org